“..... and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.”

Acts 1:8b

Bolivia STM News

We have just finished an intense season of hosting Canadian churches and supporting their journey of understanding and experiencing faith through the lens of life in Bolivia. I recently accompanied Blythwood/Weston Park Churches to support the rehabilitation of adobe homes for the prevention of Chagas disease. This work extends beyond the cement and stucco used to seal homes and destroy the habitat of the Vichuga beetle that carries the parasite causing Chagas. Families hear the gospel message through stories, prayer and through the presence of the Canadian and Bolivian church members spending the week at their homes. Most importantly, our partners are in the communities throughout the year, facilitating medical testing and treatment, workshops around agricultural best practices and proper hygiene. Our partners are also committed to providing ongoing spiritual connections, through local church leaders. Helbert is a deacon of the Aiquile Baptist Church and is one of several dedicated professional albanils (masons) who ensure the proper construction of homes of people unable to complete the work themselves (widows, elderly, ill, etc.).

Felicidades, mother of 9 and home owner, is curious about Christianity and asked Helbert if she could host the next meeting of the church in her newly repaired home! We continue to be inspired by the people we serve and motivated by these opportunities to share a bit in the life of people in the countryside.

Bolivia Team

It bears repeating, Bruno and I are privileged to be working with dedicated and gifted CBM staff in Bolivia, who are walking alongside our partners;

Patricia Nacho facilitating Canadian and Bolivian church short term teams to consider how their experience can impact their lives and that of their churches, while supporting Bolivian churches.

Working to support the understanding and practice of Integral Mission by local Bolivian churches, literally throughout all of Bolivia, Tim and Kallie Hutton. Follow them through their monthly blog

UBLA & COMIBAM

In Iguazu, Brazil we recently were privileged to attend the Convention of the Union of Latin American Baptists (UBLA), an annual gathering of Baptist denominational leaders from most Latin American countries. This was an opportunity for reflection and teaching around the theme of Transforming Cities, Impacting New Generations. As in many parts of the world, Latin America is rapidly urbanizing and our churches need to shift to remain relevant in their communities. COMIBAM (Cooperación Misionera Iberoamericana) is a larger gathering, held every 10 years, of 1800+ people working throughout the Spanish & Portuguese speaking world. Traditionally, most Latin American churches thought of themselves as receivers of missionary efforts. In 1976, 98% of missionaries throughout the world were from North America and Europe. Today, 78% of missionaries come from outside of NA and Europe; 15,000 from Latin America. In the last decade the Latin American churches have mobilized to become senders, with many Latinos having very effective ministries in all parts of the world. Perhaps because they already share cultural, linguistic, and worldview commonalities, Latin American Christians are especially effective in the Muslim world.
